

WEIGHT VASES

A thin steel stand holds the flower upright while water sits at the concrete base – in the middle...nothing...just the stem unusually exposed. We like the simplicity and functionality of these Decha Archjananun tabletop designs.

Website: www.specimen-editions.fr
© Decha Archjananun/ECAL

FOLDING CHAIR

"What's underneath the sheet?" is the question on everyone's mind. Philipp Aduatz's design is a transient transformation frozen in time. Made of linen, polyester resin, PU foam and lacquer, this seater is an artificial stabilisation of the downward cascading fabric.

Website: philippaduat.com

MAISON & OBJET, 2012 WONDER WHITES

Each pristine pick has a uniqueness about it – our showcase of the arresting sculptural forms

MADE

The strong, angular shape of Pucci de Rossi's Doppio Gioco vase plays with the perspective of the object, making for an abstract design. Keeping with the motto of Paris based Made Gallery: "Sculpture for everyday life", this porcelain double holder is lustreless on the outside but is enamelled within.

Website: www.made75.com

MUUTO

Composed with equilateral triangles and principles that are used for large scale computer modelling, Danish architect Julien De Smedt's Crushed bowl for Muuto is handcrafted using glazed fine porcelain pieces.

Website: www.muuto.com

SOON SALON

They go with a belief that products, besides making every day life comfortable, should also bring a smile to your face.... Designer Frank Willems' ceramic vase collection Aaah does have a quirky feel about it, with each having their own character, coming to light when dressed with flowers.

Website: soonsalon.com

ELLE
DECOR
LOVES

The ELLE DECOR team travelled to Maison et Objet courtesy Safi Salons Français et Internationaux. Tel +33 144290200 Email info@safisalons.fr